Sartre: An Existentialist Existentialism is a theory developed to portray the notion that there is no God. Sartre was a French philosopher and playwright. Sartre's ideas and theories greatly impacted society, as his thoughts are still about today. For since we ignore the commandments of God and all values prescribed as eternal, nothing remains but what is strictly voluntary (Sartre). Sartre's response is effortless: merely to himself. Thus, Sartre says: "We all must take complete responsibility for existence, because every time I act on my choices, I will something from nothing" (Sartre). Word Count: 935. Approx Pages: 4.
