Halloween has its history in ancient times and in modern times, from the Celts to the Irish. The history of Halloween is not entirely a clear one. Here's how (we think) it started: Many hundreds of years ago, a people called the Celts lived in Europe and on the British Isles. The Celts believed that the souls of the dead visited Earth on the last day of October. They had a festival in honor of these souls of the dead, and they called it Samhain. In time, the Roman Empire conquered the Celts and took over some of their beliefs as well. This included Samhain. The Romans combined it with their own festivals. And since the Roman Empire spread across a great part of the known world, it finds out the spooktacular history of Halloween. From carving pumpkins to trick or treating, each ghoulsh tradition has its own fascinating tale. And speaking of history, check out our favorite retro Halloween costumes! The Origins of Halloween. Jack o' Lanterns. Trick-or-Treating in Costumes. The meaning behind Jack o' Lanterns is a rather tragic tale. As the story goes, a drunken farmer named Stingy Jack was turned away from both heaven and hell. As Jack wandered the darkness of purgatory, he made a lantern out of a carved out turnip and a lump of coal to help light the way and guide his lost soul. The Celts believed that placing Jack o' Lanterns outside helped guide lost souls home as they wandered the streets during Samhain.
