Lowland Floodplain Rivers: Geomorphological Perspectives

Paul Carling; Geoffrey E Petts

Study area  Vegetation survey  Geomorphological survey  Results  Vegetation zonation and site factors  Floodplain geomorphology  Historical migration rates  Discussion  Disturbance model  Landform succession  Rehabilitation strategies  Conclusions  References.

Variability in meandering of a lowland river controlled by bank composition. Introduction  Materials and methods.