Distinguished Authors Hold Book-Signing

Mary Higgins Clark (right) and Carol Higgins Clark (left), recipients of the Distinguished Author Award of the Friends of the Weinberg Memorial Library, spent several hours autographing books at the University’s bookstore, 23 September. The book signing was followed by a “Meet the Authors” reception to benefit the Library’s Endowment Fund.

Open House 2000 Slated for 22 October and 5 November

Prospective students will have an opportunity to discover the many academic and co-curricular activities of the University during Open House 2000 on 22 October and 5 November.

Open House begins at 1:00 p.m. at the John J. Long, S.J., Athletic Center with welcoming remarks from Rev. Joseph M. McShane, S.J., University President, and Joseph M. Roback, Director of Admissions. From 2:00 p.m. to 4:15 p.m., breakout sessions at various on-campus locations will provide visitors with information about undergraduate programs and major areas of study. The afternoon’s offerings will include sessions about everything from nursing, computer science, education and physical therapy to business and the pre-medical program. There will also be informational sessions about athletic programs and campus technology.

Throughout the day, campus tours will be available from the lobby of the Long Center. A Mass will be held at the Madonna della Strada Chapel at 4:15 p.m.

“We hope our visitors will use their time on campus to touch the University’s soul, to explore its offerings and to catch its spirit,” commented Fr. McShane on the Open House sessions.

For additional information about Open House 2000, call 1-888-SCRANTON or e-mail admissions@scranton.edu.

Students, Teachers to Be Honored

Twenty-two students, four teachers and a University professor will be honored at an Academic Excellence Day (formerly Higher Education Day) ceremony slated for 13 October, 3:00 p.m., at the Houlihan-McLean Center. The entire University community is invited to attend.

Frank O’Hara Medals will be presented to 12 sophomore, junior and senior students in recognition of their academic achievements during the 1999 – 2000 school year. Awards will be presented to students with the highest grade-point average in each of four schools: the College of Arts and Sciences, the Panuska School of Professional Studies, the Dexter Hanley College and the Kania School of Management.

The Graduate School will present Frank O’Hara Awards to the top student in each of its program areas: business administration, health and human resources administration, counseling, humanities, science and education.

The Frank O’Hara Medals are named in honor of the late Frank O’Hara who served the University for 53 years in various administrative positions. The ceremony will also include the presentation of four Rose Kelly Awards honoring teachers who have positively influenced University students in each of the undergraduate colleges. Rose Kelly awards will be presented to the teachers, as well as the University students who cited their mentors.

Alumnus Joseph Weinberg, Ph.D., ’36, established the Rose Kelly Award in honor of an elementary school teacher who greatly influenced his life.

In addition, Thomas P. Hogan, Ph.D., Interim Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs, will be recognized as the University’s nominee for the Professor of the Year Award sponsored by the Council for Advancement and Support of Education (CASE).
16 Years of Volunteer Service - In One Year

Collegiate Volunteers of the University performed more than 16 years of service to hundreds of communities and organizations - all in one year.

During 1999 – 2000, the University’s Collegiate Volunteers logged a total of 142,158 hours of community service - the equivalent of one person working 24 hours a day, 365 days a year for about 16 years.

Founded in 1984, Collegiate Volunteers is a cooperative volunteer placement program between The University of Scranton and Marywood University. The students’ service interests are matched with community needs and in various parts of the country and globe.

Last year, students from the University worked at a N’ajo reservation in St. Michael’s, Ariz., and an outreach program in Williamston, N.C., and participated in spring break service trips to Ecuador and Mexico. They developed a program to help at-risk female adolescents in inner-city Washington, D.C. In N. eastern Pennsylvania, they started a community Boys Club and worked as timeless volunteers with H habitat for H umanity and T he Jewish H one.

If they sound like people with a mission, it’s because they are. As a manifestation of its social mission, the University encourages its students to develop many life skills and values. Service to others is an important part of this mission.

“Community service exposes students to the realities of the world in which they live,” said Patricia Vaccaro, Director of Collegiate Volunteers.

Clare Connolly, a physical therapy major pursuing her master’s degree at the University, is one of many students who have given freely of their time to participate in service trips. One such trip took her to Belle Haven, Va., where she worked with 14 other University students to help build a home for a needy family.

“It’s gratifying to know that the work we did helped give someone a home,” she said.

In northeast Pennsylvania, Collegiate Volunteers make valuable contributions to many agencies and organizations, including The Jewish H one in Scranton and H habitat for H umanity.

In her five and one-half years as Volunteer Coordinator at Th e j ew ish H one in Scranton and H habitat for H umanity, Janet M. Moskovitz saw hundreds of Collegiate Volunteers work with the elderly. She watched students work as bingo aides, friendly visitors and feeders. Equally important, she observed how volunteers taught the stereotypes that young people have about seniors.

“The students were surprised to see residents dancing, singing and playing shuffleboard,” says Mrs. M. Moskovitz.

“T hrough their work with seniors, the students developed bonds that, in many cases, extended well beyond their initial service commitment.

“Even after graduating from the University, students have come back to visit the residents,” she adds.

Bob Quinn, Executive D irector of H habitat for H umanity, echoes Mrs. M. Moskovitz’s sentiments about Collegiate Volunteers.

“Without the University of Scranton students, we would never have been able to house as many families as we have,” Mr. Quinn commented.

Ellen M. Casey, Ph.D., receives Distinguished Service Award

University President Rev. Joseph M. McShane, S.J., presents the second annual Earl Award to Ellen M. Casey, Ph.D., Professor of English. From left: Jacqueline Earl Hurst, Karen Earl Kolon, M.D., and Pauline Earl, family members of the late Dr. John L. Earl; Professor Stephen Casey; Dr. Ellen Casey; John M. McInerney, Ph.D., last year’s recipient of the Earl Award; Thomas P. Hogan, Ph.D., Interim Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs; and Fr. McShane.

NEW NAME, NEW PLACE — The Board of Regents, formerly the University Council, became the first group to meet in the Board Room of Brennan Hall, 16 September. The Board’s standing committees discussed marketing, community and student life issues. The committee breakout sessions were followed by a presentation about the new Executive Education Center headquartered in Brennan Hall.
University Moves Undergraduate Commencement to Arena

Beginning in 2001, The University of Scranton will take advantage of a new resource in Northeastern Pennsylvania by moving its Undergraduate Commencement exercises 20 minutes south to the First Union Arena in Wilkes-Barre.

The 2001 Undergraduate Commencement Ceremony on 27 May will begin early in the afternoon at the Arena, later than its usual starting time of 10:30 a.m. Graduates will be asked to report to the Arena 90 minutes ahead of time for mingling. All other Commencement events, including Graduate School Commencement and the Baccalaureate Mass on Saturday, 26 May, will continue to be held on campus.

"I have toured the Arena and am glad that we are able to take advantage of this exceptional resource to end our anxious vigil each year to see what kind of ceremony the weather will dictate for us," said University President Rev. Joseph M. McShane, S.J. "The wonder of Commencement is in the celebration of all that our students have achieved. We cannot pass up an opportunity to make that celebration as comfortable as possible for our graduates and their guests."

"Our primary concern in moving Commencement to the Arena was weather," said Robert Fetterhoff, Registrar, who coordinates the ceremony. "In past years, if it rained, we would need to move the ceremony indoors, but if it was sunny, the temperature on the field could reach well above 90 degrees, making it an issue as well, especially for older guests."

Preparations for the event included Physical Plant employees arranging thousands of chairs in three different locations. Fitzpatrick Field offered seating for approximately 7,000 guests. In cases of inclement weather, the ceremony moved into the 3,000-seat Byron Complex, with overflow seating in the Long Center. As a result, under graduate students were limited to two tickets for family and friends to view the ceremony live. Other guests would watch on closed-circuit television.

"We have made the most of our facilities, but there is no question that moving Undergraduate Commencement indoors and limiting graduates to two guests always upset our students and their families," Fetterhoff added. "Watching a ceremony on television does not match the experience of attending in person."

The First Union Arena offers air conditioned seating for 6,500 family members and friends, in addition to seating on the floor and stage for graduates, faculty, administrators and honored guests. Located off of Exit 46 on Interstate 81, the building is fully accessible for older persons and persons with disabilities. Ample free parking is available in lots immediately adjacent to the building.

The Registrar's Office will send a Commencement weekend packet to graduating seniors in early January. The packet will provide information about hotels in the region, including those near Wilkes-Barre. For more information about accommodations throughout the region, students and families can visit www.poconohotels.com on the Internet.

U.S. News & World Report
University Retains Top Ten Ranking

The University of Scranton was once again recognized as one of “America’s Best Colleges” by U.S. News & World Report, ranking in the top ten among regional universities in the north for the seventh consecutive year. In addition, the University ranked 13th in the north on the magazine’s “Best Values” listing, the only school in Pennsylvania to achieve this distinction.

In the area of alumni support, the University ranks 26th in the nation’s Jesuit colleges and universities in the percentage of its undergraduate alumni of record who donate money to the university last year. The University garnered national attention for its value-centered education when the Templeton Foundation included it among its honor roll of 100 character-building colleges. It enjoyed equal recognition for incorporating technology into its instructional environment by improving on its ranking among “America’s Most Wired Colleges” by Yahoo Internet Life magazine. Ranked from 99 in 1999 to 43rd in 2000 among comprehensive and research universities in the nation, the highest ranking of any Jesuit college or university.
Four to Join University’s Board of Trustees

The University has announced the election of four people to its Board of Trustees for three-year terms. The new members, who will join the board at its 11 October meeting, are Patricia Moran Chuff, a Partner in the Wilmington, Del., law firm of Chadwick, Arps, Slate, Maeger and Flom; John D. Dionne, Partner and Managing Director of Bennett Restructuring Funds; and Thomas F. Karam, President and CEO of PG Energy and its former parent company, Pennsylvania Enterprises, Inc. (PEI). In 1996, he played a key role in the sale of PEI to Southern Union Company, an international energy company headquartered in Austin, Texas, with four major divisions in Texas, Florida, and Pennsylvania. Upon completion of the merger, he was named President and CEO of Southern Union Pennsylvania division and Executive Vice President of Corporate Development for Southern Union Company.

Before joining PEI and then Southern Union, Mr. Karam developed a strong background in utility finance and investment banking as Vice President of Investment Banking at Legg Mason, Inc., in Baltimore, and prior to that at Thomson McKinnon, in New York.

Mr. Dionne is a graduate of St. Bonaventure University and holds a Bachelor of Science degree from Villanova University School of Law in 1984. Prior to joining Bennett Restructuring Funds, a private investment firm specializing in financially troubled companies, Mr. Dionne was a General Partner of Saugetuck Capital, a leveraged buyout firm. Prior to joining Saugetuck, he was responsible for mergers, acquisitions, and various treasury functions for The Henley Group and its successor entities – Fisher Scientific, Aker and General Chemical. He is a CPA, and has served on the boards of directors of several private companies.

Mr. Chuff, a Partner in Chadwick, Arps, Slate, Maeger and Flom’s Corporate Department, has a diverse practice with extensive experience in the areas of mergers and acquisitions, corporate finance, securities and general corporate law. She represents public and private companies in a wide range of industries, as well as investment banks and other financial institutions in a variety of transactions.

The University took the green chemistry concept to a new plateau by developing green chemistry modules that can be woven into existing courses across the chemistry curriculum. In developing the modules, the University’s chemistry professors are taking topics covered in a typical course and rewriting them with a green slant. Dr. Cann, Professor Trudy A. Dickneider,否则。 Assistant Professor Timothy D. Foley, Ph.D., Associate Professor and Chemistry Chair David E. Marx, Ph.D., Associate Professor Donna Narasavage-Hoeld, Ph.D., and Associate Professor Joan Wasielowski, Ph.D. Each of the modules has three parts:

• “The module” — Students in chemistry classes are encouraged to visit the Chemistry Department’s web page to read and study the materials.

• “Notes to Instructors” — This unit suggests how and where a specific module can be used in a particular course, and other courses in which the module might also be used.

• “PowerPoint Presentation” — Instructors and students can download the presentation. During the next two years the modules will be used to introduce “green chemistry” into the chemistry curriculum at the University. In order to promote the introduction of green chemistry into courses at other institutions, the chemistry department is posting the modules on its website at http://academic.scranton.edu/faculty/CANN/M/12greenfunmodules.html.

The Heiligh-McGowan Center at The University of Scranton will consist again with the sounds of jazz when the Eric Reed Quintet takes the stage on Sunday, 22 October, at 7:30 p.m. The performance, which is part of the University's Performing Arts Series, is open to the public free of charge.

Jazz pianist Eric Reed will be joined by Carl Allen on drums, M.Ike Rodriguez on trumpet, Wayne Escoffery on tenor sax and Vincente Archer on bass. Mr. Reed, the 1999 Gavin “Artist of the Year”, has received rave reviews from The New York Times, Time and many highly respected publications of the jazz community. He is considered one of the jazz geniuses of the new generation. Mr. Reed has performed, recorded and toured internationally with many jazz greats including Benny Carter, Ron Carter, Natalie Cole, Quincy Jones, Wynton Marsalis, Nicholas Payton, Marcus Printup, Diianne Reeves, Wayne Shorter, Clark Terry, and University favorite Wycklife Gordon (who made his seventh performance at the University in September). Mr. Reed has also toured for numerous independent and mainstream films, including the comedy “Life” featuring Eddie Murphy and Martin Lawrence.

For additional information about the performance, call 941-7624 or visit the University Bands and Singer's website at http://academic.scranton.edu/department/banding.
University Appoints New Vice President

Among the many administrative, faculty and staff appointments announced at the recent University Convocation was one of special significance in the University’s history. Marie Angelella George, Ph.D., has been appointed Vice President of Planning and Institutional Research, thus becoming the first female Vice President in the University’s history.

Dr. George received her bachelor’s degree from College Misericordia, her master’s degree from The University of Scranton and her doctorate from the University of Pennsylvania. Prior to joining the University community, she served as Vice President for Human Resources at Mercy Hospital and held a faculty position at King’s College. In 1993, she joined the faculty of the University’s Department of Health Administration and Human Resources. “A productive scholar and talented administrator, in the course of her time in our midst, Dr. George has enriched the life of the University through her service as a faculty member, the chair of her department and the Director of Planning,” said University President Rev. Joseph M. McShane, S.J.

“At the University moves forward with its efforts to implement both its strategic plan and its facilities master plan, it will benefit from her expertise, her wisdom and her quiet efficiency.”

“I am extremely excited to have the opportunity to participate in the shaping of the future of the institution,” said Dr. George. “I look forward to working with the entire University community in achieving its vision.”

A Jenkins Township resident, Dr. George is active in civic affairs. She has served as a Board Member of Catholic Social Services of Wilkes-Barre and was a founding member of the Greater Wilkes-Barre Area Labor Management Council. She was also the founding President of the Northeastern Pennsylvania Society for Human Resources Management.

Dr. George is a certified Senior Professional in Human Resources.

Freshman Honor Society Established

A new Freshman Honor Society has been established at the University to encourage, honor and promote academic excellence.

The honor society will hold its first induction ceremony in the spring of 2001 and will be a chapter of Alpha Lambda Delta, the National Honor Society for freshmen. The Freshman Honor Society is open to all freshmen who meet the academic qualifications. Students must be registered for a full course of study leading to an academic degree and must rank in the top 20 percent of their freshmen class. The minimum scholastic average required for membership is 3.5 or above.

Eligibility will be based on grades of the first full semester average of the first year in college. Life membership is awarded. Officers must be sophomores; members, however, may remain active. Members will be involved in service projects on campus and in the community.

Students may participate in Alpha Lambda Delta at both the local and national levels. At the annual leadership workshop held each fall, students from across the nation come together and learn leadership skills.

Senior certificates will be presented by the chapter to all graduating members who have maintained the cumulative grade point average required for membership. The National Council awards fellowships (at least 16 annually) of up to $5,000 for one year of graduate study. Any initiated member of Alpha Lambda Delta who has maintained the academic qualification of membership is eligible to apply as a graduating senior.

For further information contact Rosallan Garrett, Ph.D., Faculty Advisor, at 941-7706, or Sami Abdel-Salam, Administrative Advisor, at 941-6390.

Biology Major Named Gates Millennium Scholar

Anthony Zamcho, ‘01, a biology major at the University, has been named to the nation’s first group of Gates Millennium Scholars. Mr. Zamcho is originally from Cameroon, Africa, and lived in Potomac, Md., before coming to the University. He was selected from more than 62,000 nominees from around the country to receive the award. In total, 4,100 students will receive funds to assist with the cost of tuition, fees, books and living expenses during the 2000-2001 academic year.

The Gates Millennium Scholars Program is administered by the United Negro College Fund in partnership with the Hispanic Scholarship Fund and the American Indian College Fund. It is a 20-year, $1 billion initiative aimed at enabling 20,000 minority students from low-income families.

Mr. Zamcho was selected for the program through a rigorous application process. He was eligible for nomination by having at least a 3.3 GPA, being accepted or enrolled full-time in a four-year undergraduate degree program, showing significant financial need, and demonstrating leadership skills through community involvement. He is actively involved in the community as a tutor at local high schools and a companion at nursing homes. On campus, Mr. Zamcho is a member of United Colors and the International Club.

Regarding his nomination, Mr. Zamcho believes that his application was “really solid.” He admits, “It’s one of those things where you make the application and you kind of forget about it. Then you get a call telling you that you got the scholarship and you’re so excited.”
SPORTS

By Kevin F. Southard

Royals Name Steele

NCAA Faculty Rep.

Toby Lovechoik, Director of Athletics, has announced the appointment of E. Springs Steele, Ph.D., as N.C.A.A. Faculty Athletics Representative.

Dr. Steele will focus on the personal welfare of student-athletes and overall institutional compliance with the National Collegiate Athletic Association (N.C.A.A.) and Freedom Conference regulations. He succeeds (John) O. Malley, Ph.D., Associate Professor of Psychology, who held the post for well over a decade.

Dr. Steele will be the liaison between the athletics department and the faculty. In his role, Dr. Steele will work to ensure the personal welfare of student-athletes and the overall institutional compliance with the National Collegiate Athletic Association (N.C.A.A.) and Freedom Conference regulations.

Fall Sports Update

Cross Country

Senior Joe Fent (Dalton/Scranton Prep) has certainly lived up to his preseason billing. Fent opened the 2000 season on September 2nd by winning the Labor Day Invitational individual title at Muhlenberg University for the fourth straight year. He covered the five-mile course in a record-breaking time of 28:19 in 83-degree heat and 76 percent humidity in leading the Royals to the team title. The following weekend, he clocked a field of 198 runners to become the first harrier in University history to win the Lebanon Valley Invitational individual title in a time of 26:41.87.

The women's cross country team, led by senior Amy Beth Sexton (Wayne, N.J./J.Wayne), and Erin Kikker (Pleasant Mount, Forest City) and junior Karen Schottlin (Abington Heights), has certainly lived up to its preseason billing. The team to defeat Scranton was Moravian College, 6-3, on October 17, 1998, in the Freedom Conference opener. The Royals rebounded, however, and six straight years under head coach Kristin Maile.

The volleyball team is only nine victories away from winning 20 matches in a season for the seventh consecutive seasons and sixth straight year under head coach Kristin Maile. Senior defensive specialist Jenny Piekowski (Chadds Ford/Hammonton Valley) registered her 1000th career dig against Eastern College in the semifinals of the Freedom Conference. The Royals lost 3-2 but defeated Centenary College 3-0 and The University of Scranton women's volleyball team is only nine victories away from winning 20 matches in a season for the seventh consecutive seasons and sixth straight year under head coach Kristin Maile.

Field Hockey

TALK ABOUT A demanding schedule!

During this past fall season, the Lady Royals of third-year head coach Brenda Brewer hosted defending NCAA Division III national champion, The College of New Jersey, and Bloomsburg University, which has won the last four tournaments. She said, "We're a bit of a sleeper," said Lovechoik, "and we've been recognized for our performance over the past couple of years." The Lady Royals lost to the College of New Jersey and Bloomsburg, but the Lady Royals more than held their own in the minds of field hockey fans. "Their performance against two top Division III teams, and they have won four straight games, and are currently on a six-game winning streak," said Lovechoik. The Lady Royals have won four straight games and are currently on a six-game winning streak, and Lovechoik is pleased with their performance. The Lady Royals have won four straight games and are currently on a six-game winning streak, and Lovechoik is pleased with their performance.
The University of Scranton has established the Office of Fellowship Programs to help students achieve the kind of success in other scholarship competitions that they have consistently enjoyed in securing Fulbrights. The Office is headed by Mary F. Engel, Ph.D., who became Director of Fellowship Programs on 1 September. It prepares students to compete for a range of non-Fulbright fellowships and scholarships, including Rhodes, Marshall, Goldwater, Truman, Madison, Ford, National Science Foundation and National Security Education Program grants. It seeks to match these programs the kind of success that University graduates have enjoyed in winning Fulbright and other prestigious international fellowships - 99 in the past 28 years.

The University’s Fulbright Program, directed by Susan Truste, Ph.D., Associate Professor of Economics/Finance, has garnered national attention for the way in which it engages faculty to help students focus their application and research proposal. The process begins as early as the freshman year. Following this pattern, Dr. Engel is assembling a faculty advisory committee to help identify talented students as early as possible in their college careers. The advisory committee will include directors of the Special Jesuit Liberal Arts, Undergraduate Honors, and Business Leadership programs, as well as faculty advisors for the Truman, Fulbright, National Science Foundation, Goldwater, and Madison fellowships.

Additionally, the pre-law and pre-med advisors, and the Assistant Director of Career Services will serve on the advisory board.

The Office will invite students to join the Matteo Ricci Society, a combined faculty-student organization that will help students prepare to make successful applications for fellowships and scholarships. The Society will offer activities for students, beginning in the freshman year, to help students discern appropriate opportunities and make the choices that will best prepare them to be selected for fellowships. University President Rev. Joseph M. McShane, S.J., announced the creation of our Fulbright program, the results of the Faculty-Student Research Program and the deeply personal interest that our faculty take in the lives and careers of our students have already created a campus culture that celebrates student achievement,” he said.

With the creation of the Fellowships Program and the Matteo Ricci Society, we move to the next level of achievement. The Ricci Society is named in honor of Matteo Ricci (1552-1610), a Jesuit scholar and mathematician. Fr. Ricci is renowned for his role in leading early missionary efforts in China, particularly for the way in which he allowed himself to learn from the culture as well as contribute to it. He eventually gained access to the leading Chinese scholars of the time, teaching them science and mathematics, and sharing with them maps which presented a previously unavailable view of China.

“It is my hope that in the coming years the success of the program sponsored by the Society will create in our students the understanding that success in all fellowships and scholarship competitions is an accepted – and even expected - part of the Scranton experience,” Fr. McShane added. Dr. Engel is encouraged about the success of the program because of the opportunity to build on relationships that University faculty enjoy with their students. “Our faculty members consistently help students to develop their talents, even talents that the students don’t realize that they have,” she said. “In particular, students who take advantage of the chance to work individually with faculty in the Faculty-Student Research Program and the Faculty-Student Teaching Mentorship Program will be particularly well-positioned to apply for nationally competitive fellowships and scholarships.”

In the first weeks of the Programs, Dr. Engel has begun to assemble a resource library of information about the myriad of fellowship and scholarship opportunities from which students can choose. “The variety of both publicly and privately funded opportunities is considerable,” she said, emphasizing that qualified students willing to devote the time and effort to find the best program for their individual goals will receive a wide range of support as they seek to achieve their goals.

“Of our students are extremely well qualified for a wide range of fellowships, but they cannot compete for them if they don’t first find out about them and apply for them,” she added.

Students or faculty interested in learning more about the Programs can contact Dr. Engel at 941-7901.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Patricia A. Bailey, Ed.D., Professor of Nursing, co-directed a workshop with Sarana Seifer from the University of Washington at Colby Sawyer College in New Hampshire on 30-31 May. The workshop focused on integration of service-learning experiences into the nursing curriculum at a liberal arts college. Dr. Bailey continues as a consultant with Community-Campus Partnerships for Health in San Francisco, Calif.

Thomas E. Baker, Associate Professor, Department of Sociology/Criminal Justice, published an article entitled, “Police Training in Cyberspace,” in Law and Order: The Magazine for Police Management. The article was based on his novice experience with three Internet-based courses offered this spring.

Barbara Cozza, Ph.D., Assistant Professor of Education, delivered a paper with co-presenters D. Goldsby and S. Goethals on “Implementing Web-based Digital Portfolios in Three Teacher Preparation Programs” at the American Association for Higher Education Assessment conference, Charlotte, N.C., in June. On 30 August, Dr. Cozza delivered a paper with co-presenter D. Goldsby titled, “Understanding Young Children’s Perceptions of Early Mathematics Concepts Through Writing and Drawing” at the University of London, European Early Childhood Research Conference. While at the University of London, Dr. Cozza also delivered a paper with co-presenter P. Sharpe titled, “Features of Parental Support for the Development of Numeracy in Young Children: Similarities and Differences, East and West.”

John N. Kallianiotis, Ph.D., Associate Professor of Finance, has an article entitled, “Capital-Price Equalization between Greece and European Union,” published in the North Central Business Journal.

Stacy Landry has been named Assistant Director of the University’s Center for Health Education and Wellness. She will coordinate the peer education program and will assist with the many educational programs offered by the Center.

Megaw Laywitz has joined the University’s Center for Health & Wellness as Graduate Assistant. She will assist with educational programs and will help coordinate the residential wellness programs.

William J. Parente, Ph.D., Professor of Political Science, was recently invited to the Academy of Management under the President of the Republic of Kyrgyz, and made a brief visit. She will return to the Republic of Kyrgyz in the spring of 2001 to deliver her lectures.

Gretchen J. Van Dyke, Ph.D., Associate Professor, Department of Political Science, had an article entitled, “Stimulating Simulations: Making the European Union a Classroom Reality,” published in International Studies Perspectives. The article was co-authored with Edward G. DeClair of Lynchburg College and Peter H. Lodell of West Chester University. Another of Dr. Van Dyke’s works, “Spunkin: A Political Symbol & Tool in 1960 campaign Politics,” was published in Reconsidering Spunkin: Forty Years Since the Soviet Satire. This is Volume 11 in the Studies in the History of Science Technology and Medicine series edited by John Kringe.

SBDC to Honor Women Entrepreneurs

The Small Business Development Center (SBDC) will hold its annual Award for Women Entrepreneurs at noon on Tuesday, 17 October, in the Eagen Auditorium of the Office of Student Life.

In addition to the Woman Entrepreneurs Award, the SBDC will announce three additional awards:

- SBDC Community Service Award to a business in the Scranton area that has shown a commitment to the community.
- SBDC Employee of the Year Award to an employee of a business in the Scranton area that has shown exceptional performance and dedication.
- SBDC Student Entrepreneur of the Year Award to a student who has started and operated a successful business.

These awards will be presented in recognition of the efforts of women entrepreneurs in the Scranton area.

For more information or reservations, contact the SBDC at 941-7588.
CAMPUS CALENDAR

OCTOBER
1-30 The Art Gallery’s “Artist as Visionary: A Northeast Regional Art 2000” exhibit will be shown at The University Art Gallery, Afa Gallery, M eywood University Art Galleries and Linder Gallery at Kingstone College. For details, call 941-4244 or 348-6278.
4 Last day to E lect Audit Grad Option.
Continuing Education Program, Introduction to Visual Basic Programming, 1-4 p.m., today through 8 November. For details call 941-7582.
Women’s Volleyball hosts Delaware Valley, 7 p.m., John J. Long Center.
Women’s Soccer hosts M arian, 7 p.m., Fitzpatrick Field.
In complete Grades Due.
Quarter Ends.
Women’s Tennis hosts FD U, 3:30 p.m., Poly H i Courts.
University H oiling closes at 6 p.m.
Semester Break Begins.
Alumni Board of Governors Meeting, Brennan Hall. For information call 1-800-SCRANTON.
W omen’s Soccer hosts Widener, Noon, Fitzpatrick Field.
Men’s Soccer hosts K iam, 2 p.m., Fitzpatrick Field.
Yom Kippur.
Columbus Day, Staff Holiday.
Continuing Education Program, Intermediate AutoCAD, 8:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m., today through 12 October. For details call 941-7582.
Continuing Education Program, Intermediate Microsoft Access 2000, 9 a.m.-3 p.m., today through 17 October. For details call 941-7582.
Continuing Education Program, Professional Supervision Skills, 9 a.m.-4 p.m. For details call 941-7582.
Women’s Tennis hosts Susquehanna, 4 p.m., Poly H i Courts.
Continuing Education Program, M CSE Enterprise Technologies, 6-9 p.m., today through 5 December. For details call 941-7582.
Women’s Soccer hosts W yoming, 7 p.m., Fitzpatrick Field.
The Arthur J. Karna School of Management Recruiting Expo, 10 a.m.-1 p.m., E agen Auditorium. Open to all students on campus. For details call 941-4028.
The Legend of Women Voters of Lackawanna County will host a forum with the three candidates for the 114th State House, 7 p.m., Royal T heatre, M c-D ato Center for Literary and Performing Arts. Open to the public and questions are welcome. Proposals can present to WV VLC, PO Box 246, Chincilla, PA 18420, or email: lvjillakawanaill@comcast.com, by 2 October.
Continuing Education Program, Introduction to MS Excel 2000, 9 a.m.-3 p.m., today through 20 October. For details call 941-7582.
Continuing Education Program, Networking, 9 a.m.- 4 p.m., today through 10 November. For details call 941-7582.
The University Art Gallery and NEIU Art shop for elementary and high school students, teachers and/ or parents, “Palette Workshop,” today and next Friday, 10 a.m.-2 p.m., Gallery Building. For details call 941-4214.
Academic Excellence Day awards ceremony.
3 p.m., H oulihan-McLean Center. The University community is invited to attend. For information call Brennan Hall, 4 p.m.
Continuing Education Program, Adobe Illustrator, 9 a.m.-4 p.m., today through 20 October. For details call 941-7582.
Field Hockey h osts Drexel, 2 p.m., Fitzpatrick Field.
Continuing Education Program, Intermediate AutoCAD, 5:30-9 p.m., today through 26 October. For details call 941-7582.
Continuing Education Program, M CSE TCP/IP, 5:30-9 p.m., today through 9 November. For details call 941-7582.
Women’s Soccer hosts Cabrini, 7 p.m., Fitzpatrick Field.
Women’s Volleyball hosts Allentown, 7 p.m., John J. Long Center.
Scranton/Pocono Nor east Alumni Chapter Trip to New Orleans. For information call 1-800-SCRANTON.
Jesus Alumni Retreat for Students, Ohio, Ohio, region, today through 22 October. For information call 440-884-9300.
The Institute for Contemporary Spirituality will offer a one-day workshop in The Conductive Appraisal of Differences, 9 a.m.-4 p.m., University members and other significant others are invited guests. For information, call 941-6165.
Continuing Education Program, Introduction to MS Access 2000, 9 a.m.-4 p.m., today through 27 October. For details call 941-7582.
The Classic and Alternative Film Series presents “All About Eve,” 7 p.m., Lynnett Auditorium, H yland Hall 102. Free and open to the public. Call 941-4214.
Women’s Soccer hosts Delaware Valley, 7 p.m., Fitzpatrick Field.
Open House 2000, A Day on the Commons, 1-4 p.m., John J. Long Center. For all interested high school students and families. For information call 1-800- SCRANTON.
The Performing Arts Series presents The Eric Reidel Q uintet, 7 p.m., Houlihan-McLean Center. Free and open to the public. Call 941-7624.

NONV EMBER
1 Feast of All Saints.
2 All Souls Day.
3 Alumni President Election, 11:30 a.m.-12:45 p.m., The Galaxy 117. To register call 941-6185 or email: kmcgarvey@scranton.edu.
Small Business Development Center Seminar, “Small Business and Your Small Business,” 7-9:30 p.m., Trophy Room, Gunner. For information call 941-6432.
Continuing Education Program, M CSD: Mastering MS V B 6 Development, 9 a.m.-4 p.m., today through 21 December. For details call 941-7582.
Women’s Volleyball hosts Baptist Bible, 7 p.m., John J. Long Center.
The Pittsburgh Alumni Chapter President’s Reception. For information call 1-888-SCRANTON.
The annual Boo at the Zoo, 5-11 p.m., Nay Aug Park, today and tomorrow. Open to the public. Admission $5.00, tickets available at the door. For information call 941-7624.
The University of Scranton Performing Arts Series presents renowned Jazz Historian Loren Schoenberg, lecturing on “The Life and Times of Louis Armstrong.” 7:30 p.m., Houlihan-McLean Center. Free and open to the public. Call 941-7624.
Election Day.
Watching election night returns with the Political Science Department, “Who Will Win the Presidency, the House of Representatives and the Senate?” 8 p.m.-1 a.m., The Wolves Den. For information call 941-6326.
Semeca Black will offer a masterclass for student brass players, 9:30 p.m., Ensemble Rooms, Houlihan-McLean Center. Call 941-7624.
The University of Scranton Performing Arts Series presents “Singin’ in the Rain,” with special guest trumpeter soloist Semeca Black, 7:30 p.m., Houlihan-McLean Center. Free and open to the public. Call 941-7624.
November Calendar: The next issue must be received by 15 October. If any change have occurred with respect to previously submitted items, please inform the editor.

THE SCRANTON RECORD
The University of Scranton
McGurrin Hall
Scranton, PA 18510-4615

 Dated Material Please Rush ***

The University of Scranton Performing Arts Series presents the T h e Eric Reidel Q uintet, 7 p.m., Houlihan-McLean Center.

21 Small Business Development Center Seminar, “The Second Step,” 1-4 p.m., T BA. For details call 941-7588.
Continuing Education Program, Intermediate C++ Programming 6-9:30 p.m., today through 13 November. For details call 941-7582.
United Nations Day
Information Resource Forum, “Cap and Web for Facilition,” 11:30 a.m.-12:45 p.m., The Galaxy 117. To register call 941-6185 or email: kmcgarvey@scranton.edu.
Small Business Development Center Seminar, “Small Business and Your Small Business,” 7-9:30 p.m., Trophy Room, Gunner. For information call 941-6432.
Continuing Education Program, M CSD: Mastering MS V B 6 Development, 9 a.m.-4 p.m., today through 21 December. For details call 941-7582.
Women’s Volleyball hosts Baptist Bible, 7 p.m., John J. Long Center.
The Pittsburgh Alumni Chapter President’s Reception. For information call 1-888-SCRANTON.
The annual Boo at the Zoo, 5-11 p.m., Nay Aug Park, today and tomorrow. Open to the public. Admission $5.00, tickets available at the door. For information call 941-7624.
The University of Scranton Performing Arts Series presents renowned Jazz Historian Loren Schoenberg, lecturing on “The Life and Times of Louis Armstrong.” 7:30 p.m., Houlihan-McLean Center. Free and open to the public. Call 941-7624.
Election Day.
Watching election night returns with the Political Science Department, “Who Will Win the Presidency, the House of Representatives and the Senate?” 8 p.m.-1 a.m., The Wolves Den. For information call 941-6326.
Semeca Black will offer a masterclass for student brass players, 9:30 p.m., Ensemble Rooms, Houlihan-McLean Center. Call 941-7624.
The University of Scranton Performing Arts Series presents “Singin’ in the Rain,” with special guest trumpeter soloist Semeca Black, 7:30 p.m., Houlihan-McLean Center. Free and open to the public. Call 941-7624.

November Calendar: The next issue must be received by 15 October. If any change have occurred with respect to previously submitted items, please inform the editor.
8.45 â€“ Raffle for 5 books signed by Nir. (Donâ€™t forget to bring business card.) Inspired by the positive feedback from those sessions, weâ€™re holding Volume 3 and this time spotlighting the final factor in deciding how we behave â€“ habits. Of the three influencers, habits are at the apex of attracting, acquiring and retaining customers â€“ the sequential components of commercial success. Given the gravity of the topic, weâ€™re genuinely grateful to have a leading authority, Nir Eyal, discuss his much-acclaimed book. By attending VOLUME 3 of the DISTINGUISHED AUTHOR SERIES youâ€™ll be well-equipped to participate in the flood of benefits when the already useful Habit Model is enhanced with the game-changing improvements in Cortical Cartography. Witnesses to the Truth book. Read reviews from worldâ€™s largest community for readers. Excerpt from Witnesses to the Truth: Containing Passages From Disti...Â Start by marking â€œWitnesses to the Truth: Containing Passages from Distinguished Authors, Developing the Great Truth of Universal Salvation: With an Appendix, Exhibiting the Enormity of the Doctrine of Endless Misery (Classic Reprint)â€ as Want to Read: Want to Read savingâ€¦ Want to Read.