Title: The spread of Torres Strait Creole to the central islands of Torres Strait
Annotation: Torres Strait Creole replaced Kala Lagaw Ya in the central islands of Torres Strait because 1) pearling and beche-de-mer industries used pidgin-speaking Pacific Islanders, 2) London Missionary Society brought South Sea teachers and 3) English as a medium of instruction, 4) an elite group of Islanders who spoke English grew with encouragement from Queensland Government, and 5) changes from traditional central eastern island interaction brought pan-Islander consciousness; all factors stimulating Torres Strait Creole as lingua franca
