Chicago Opera Theater
GRANT CATEGORY: Art Works
FIELD/DISCIPLINE: Opera
$35,000
Chicago, IL
To support a new production of Duke Ellington's jazz opera "Queenie Pie." Commissioned by New York public television station WNET in 1967, librettist Betty McGettigan and Ellington collaborated on the opera until the composer's death in 1974. Left unfinished, various workshops have been presented, including a recently constructed 2009 version deemed by the librettist to be the closest to the composer's original. The artistic team of director Tazewell Thompson, conductor Jeff Lindberg, and big-band jazz vocalist Carmen Bradford will bring to life a story inspired by the life of Madam C. J. Walker, the first African-American, self-made woman millionaire who created her wealth by developing and selling her line of beauty products. Blending big band sound, the musical styles of opera, jazz, and musical theater, this 90-minute opera will explore fame, love, and the loss of it when tastes inevitably change.

Gilloury Institute
GRANT CATEGORY: Art Works   FIELD/DISCIPLINE: Theater & Musical Theater
$10,000   Chicago, IL
To support a production of Christopher Chen's "The Hundred Flowers Project." Depicting Mao Tse-Tung's Cultural Revolution and self-generating publicity narratives, the play is a parable of media's role in today's politics. At its core, it is a cautionary tale of blind idealism and examines how to discern "truth" in a media saturated society. The piece ultimately finds hidden links between the birth of modern China and our own modern social media age.

Wilma Theater
GRANT CATEGORY: Art Works   FIELD/DISCIPLINE: Theater & Musical Theater
$25,000   Philadelphia, PA
To support the world premiere of "Don Juan Comes Back from Iraq," by Paula Vogel, directed by Blanka Zizka. Inspired by Odon von Horvath's 1936 play "Don Juan Returns from the War," the project is grounded in the experiences of veterans of America's war in Iraq. Horvath's play depicts a traumatized soldier returning from the war to find Europe nearly empty of men. Current veterans share experiences similar to those of Horvath's soldier, but are returning to a country where most of the population has little direct connection with these foreign wars. The production is the result of an extensive, two-year development process, undertaken by the company's resident acting and artistic company.

Dallas Opera
GRANT CATEGORY: Art Works
FIELD/DISCIPLINE: Opera
$30,000
Dallas, TX
To support the commission, development, workshop, and premiere of "Great Scott" by composer Jake Heggie and librettist/playwright Terrence McNally. The two-act opera contains two mad scenes, an erupting volcano, and a famous opera singer (Arden Scott) returning home to perform at the local opera company struggling to stay afloat and banking on her appearance. Rather than prepare a signature role or perform a popular opera standard, Scott has brought a never-performed opera from the 19th-century bel canto period, which is unlikely to draw crowds and save the day. In a tale of love, loss, transformation, and redemption, the story explores the sacrifices one makes to achieve a dream, and the sacrifice of the dream itself. Directed by Jack O'Brien and conducted by Evan Rogister, the co-production with San Diego Opera may feature mezzo-soprano Joyce DiDonato (Arden Scott), baritone Nathan Gunn, mezzo-soprano Frederica von Stade, soprano Ailyn Perez, and counter-tenor Anthony Roth Costanzo.
