Mission on the Way: Issues in Mission Theology

Charles Edward van Engen

The LWF Consultation on Churches in Mission, held in Nairobi in 1998, underlined this holistic understanding and practice of mission as part of the Lutheran identity. The Consultation also echoed the affirmation of the 1988 LWF mission document, when it stated: Mission encompasses proclamation, service and advocacy for justice. The second section discusses the theology of mission, and the third section focuses on the practice of mission. Yet without comprehending the contexts, the church may simply assume that the way things are is the way they are meant to be.

1.2. Voices that name the contexts. There are many important voices in the world which. In exploring its context, the church will see how issues of context affect its life and witness.
