Lewis and Clark. In 1803, President Thomas Jefferson won approval from Congress for an expedition west. He hoped to find a river that would run to the Pacific Ocean. He asked his secretary, Meriwether Lewis and Lewis’ friend, William Clark to head the expedition, with an initial budget of $2,500. All about Lewis and Clark Fun Geography Facts for Kids â€“ image of Meriwether Lewis and William Clark. Lewis began preparations in the fall of 1803. He spent several months buying provisions and equipment. Only one man died on the trip and he died of appendicitis. The men were often hungry, cold and tired living on nothing but dried roots and dried fish. When the men made it back to civilization, they were surprised to learn that everyone thought they were dead. Fort Lewis is a United States military facility located 9.1 miles (14.6 km) south-southwest of Tacoma, Washington, under the jurisdiction of the United States Army Joint Base Garrison, Joint Base Lewis-McChord. It was merged with the United States Air Force's McChord Air Force Base on February 1, 2010 into a Joint Base as a result of 2005 Base Realignment and Closure Commission recommendations.
